

Program for the Study of Germany and Europe

Alumnae and Alumni

Graduate Students Trained under the Program for the Study of Germany and Europe, Harvard University 1990-2000

Present Positions

These former graduate students in the social sciences from Harvard and MIT were supported by the Program for the Study of Germany and Europe, funded by the Federal Republic of Germany, from 1990-2000. Please refer to the companion directory for the current positions of the James Bryant Conant Post-Doctoral Fellows, also supported under the Program for the Study of Germany and Europe.

The achievements of this younger generation is a vivid expression of the foresight of the German government in creating the Centers of Excellence, first in North America and now throughout the world.

This directory was compiled by Abby Collins and Giselle Mason and can be accessed on line at http://www.ces.fas.harvard.edu/german\_studies/directories/. Please keep us updated with any changes in your information.

Ruth V. Aguilera

Department of Business Administration
College of Business
University of Illinois
Urbana-Champaign
306 Wohlers Hall
1206 S. Sixth Street
Champaign, IL 61820
Tel.: + 1-217-333-7090
Fax: + 1-217-244-7969
ruth-agu@uiuc.edu
<http://www.business.uiuc.edu/aguilera/>

Aguilera is a tenured Associate Professor of Business Administration and Industrial Relations at the University of Illinois in Urbana-Champaign. She specializes in comparative corporate governance, organizational theory, and historical comparative methods. Her research interests lie in the intersection of economic sociology and international management. She received her PhD in Sociology from Harvard University.

Karen J. Alter

Department of Political Science
Northwestern University
601 University Ave
Evanston, IL 60201
Tel.: + 1-847-491-4842
Fax: + 1-847-491-8985
kalter@northwestern.edu
https://depot.northwestern.edu/kal438/public\_html/index.html

Alter is Associate Professor of Political Science and Director of International Studies, Northwestern

University. She received her PhD in Political Science from MIT. Alter is the author of The European Court's Political Power: Essays on the Influence of the European Court of Justice on European Politics (Oxford University Press, forthcoming) and Establishing the Supremacy of European Law: The Making of an International Rule of Law in Europe (Oxford University Press, 2001). Alter has also published comparative work involving international courts. She is currently working on a book titled "The New Terrain of International Law: International Courts in International Politics."

Lucio Baccaro

Institute for Work and Employment
Research
MIT
E52-581
50 Memorial Drive
Cambridge, MA 02142-1347
Tel.: + 1-617-253-7483
baccaro@mit.edu
<http://web.mit.edu/baccaro/www/>

Lucio Baccaro is Maurice F. Strong Career Development Assistant Professor in the Institute for Work and Employment Research (IWER) group at MIT, Sloan S chool of Management. His research focuses on how internal decision-making processes within associations (trade unions) affect collective choices, on deliberation as a coordination mechanism, and on participatory governance institutions involving state bureaucracies, the traditional social partners (labor and capital), and non-governmental organizations. Professor Baccaro's publications include "Institutional Determinants of Unemployment in OECD Countries: Does the Deregulatory View Hold Water?" (with Diego Rei), forthcoming in International Organization.

Edwina Barvosa-Carter

Department of Chicano Studies
University of California, Santa Barbara
Santa Barbara, CA 93106
Tel.: + 1-805-893-5714
Fax: + 1-805-893-4076
barvosa@chicst.ucsb.edu
<http://www.catalog.ucsb.edu/2003cat/profiles/barvosa-carter.htm>

Barvosa-Carter is Associate Professor of Social and Political Theory, Department of Chicana/o Studies at University of California at Santa Barbara. She received her PhD in Political Science from Harvard University (1998). She has published in Contemporary Justice Review, Political Science, American Political Science Review, The International Journal of Sexuality and Gender Studies, and the Journal of Political Philosophy. She is currently completing her first book on the relationship between multiple identity and democratic citizenship, titled Wealth of Selves: Multiple Identities, Mestiza Consciousness, and the Subject of Politics (Texas A&M University Press, forthcoming, 2008).

Gary J. Bass

Woodrow Wilson School
Department of Politics

Princeton University
Bendheim Hall
Princeton, NJ 08544
Tel.: + 1-609-258-5197
Fax: + 1-609-258-0482
gjbass@princeton.edu
http://www.princeton.edu/people/display\_person.xml?netid=gjbass&display=Core

Gary J. Bass is an associate professor of politics and international affairs at Princeton University. He is the author of Freedom's Battle: The Origins of Humanitarian Intervention (Knopf) and Stay the Hand of Vengeance: The Politics of War Crimes Tribunals (Princeton University Press), as well as articles and book chapters on human rights and international justice. Before coming to Princeton, he was a Washington reporter and West Coast correspondent for The Economist. He has written often for The New York Times, as well as writing for The New Yorker, The Washington Post, The Los Angeles Times, The New Republic, Foreign Affairs, and other publications.

Rebecca Ayako Bennette

Department of History
Middlebury College
306 Munroe Hall
Middlebury, Vermont 05753
Tel.: + 1-802-443-5853
rbennett@middlebury.edu
<http://www.middlebury.edu/academics/ump/majors/hist/hours/rbennett.htm>

Bennette is Assistant Professor of History at Middlebury College. She received her Ph.D. in history from Harvard University. Her research focuses on aspects of religion, gender, and nationalism in nineteenth-century Germany.

Erik Bleich

Department of Political Science
Middlebury College
Middlebury, VT 05753
Tel.: + 1-802-443-3254
Fax: + 1-802-443-2050
ebleich@middlebury.edu
<http://www.middlebury.edu/academics/ump/majors/ps/hours/>

Erik Bleich is Associate Professor of Political Science, Middlebury College. His interests include the politics of race and ethnicity in Europe, and the role of ideas in policymaking. He has contributed to such journals as Comparative Politics; French Politics, Culture & Society; Theory and Society; German Politics; World Politics; and Comparative Political Studies. His book Race Politics in Britain and France: Ideas and Policymaking since the 1960s (Cambridge UP) appeared in 2003. He received his PhD in Political Science from Harvard University in 1999.

Carles Boix

Department of Political Science
Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs
Princeton University
433 Robertson Hall
Princeton, NJ 08544
Tel.: + 1-609-258-2139
cboix@princeton.edu
<http://www.princeton.edu/~cboix/>

Boix received his PhD in Government from Harvard University. He is a Professor of Politics and Public Affairs at the Department of Politics and the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs in Princeton University. Previously he was Professor of Political Science at the University of Chicago. His research and teaching interests include comparative political economy and comparative politics. His books include Democracy and Redistribution (Cambridge UP, forthcoming), L'obertura catalana (Idées, 2002) and Political Parties, Growth and Equality (Cambridge UP, 1998). He has co-edited the Oxford Handbook of Comparative Politics (Oxford UP, 2007). He has received the William Riker award for the best book on political economy twice, the Mattei Dogan award for best book published in the field of comparative research and the Heinz Eulau award for best article published in the American Political Science Review. His current research projects include: the book "The Birth of Party Democracy", which explores the political conditions that led to the emergence of various party systems and electoral institutions in advanced democracies in the 19th and 20th centuries; the application of agent-based models to understand the formation of states; and the use of osteological evidence to trace the sources and evolution of inequality over time.

John Connelly

Department of History
University of California, Berkeley
3229 Dwinelle Hall
Berkeley, CA 94720
Tel.: + 1-510-642-6779
Fax: + 1-510-643-5323
jfconnel@uclink2.berkeley.edu
<http://history.berkeley.edu/faculty/Connelly/>

Connelly has taught East and Central European History at the University of California at Berkeley since 1994. He received his PhD in History from Harvard University. His research focuses on Communist higher education policies in the Czech lands, East Germany, and Poland. His publications include Captive University: The Sovietization of Czech, East German, and Polish Universities, 1945-1956 (2000) as well as contributions to such journals as Central European History, Contemporary European History, and Journal of Modern History. Connelly spent 2002-2003 at the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton.

Alice H. Cooper

Department of Political Science
University of Mississippi
University, MS 38677
Tel.: + 1-662-915-5608
Fax: + 1-662-915-7808
acooper@olemiss.edu
http://www.olemiss.edu/depts/political\_science/cooper.htm

Cooper is Associate Professor of Political Science, University of Mississippi. She teaches courses on German and European politics, political economy, and social movements. She is the author of Paradoxes of Peace: German Peace Movements Since 1945 (University of Michigan Press, 1996) and has contributed to journals such as German Politics and Society, European Journal of Political Research, and Comparative Political Studies. She received her PhD from Harvard University in Government.

Kevin Cramer

Department of History
Indiana University-Indianapolis
503M Cavanaugh Hall
425 University Blvd
Indianapolis, IN 46202-5140
Tel.: + 1-317-278-7744
Fax: + 1-317-278-7800
kcramer@iupui.edu
<http://www.iupui.edu/~history/facmain.html>

Cramer is Associate Professor of History, Indiana University-Purdue University, Indianapolis. Cramer's research interests include modern Germany and Central Europe, cultural and intellectual history, war and society, historiography, popular religion, history and memory, and nationalism. He received his PhD in History from Harvard University. Selected publications include The Thirty Years' War and German Memory in the Nineteenth Century (University of Nebraska Press, 2007) and 'Religious Conflict as History: The Nation as the One True Church', in Religion und Nation: Beiträge zu einer unbewältigten Geschichte, edited by Michael Geyer and Hartmut Lehmann (Wallstein Verlag, 2003).

Pepper D. Culpepper

Harvard Kennedy School
Harvard University
79 John F. Kennedy Street
Cambridge, MA 02138
Tel.: + 1-617-496-0760
Fax: + 1-617-496-9053
Pepper_Culpepper@harvard.edu
<http://www.hks.harvard.edu/about/faculty-staff-directory/pepper-culpepper>

Culpepper is Associate Professor of Public Policy at the Harvard Kennedy School. His research focuses on the relationship between public policy and processes of institutional change in democratic capitalism. He is currently writing a book manuscript on the mechanisms of change in systems of finance and corporate governance across the major industrialized democracies. He is the author of Creating Cooperation: How States Develop Human Capital in Europe, and co-editor of Changing France: The Politics that Markets Make (with Peter Hall and Bruno Palier) and of The German Skills Machine: Sustaining Comparative Advantage in a Global Economy (with David Finegold).

Richard Deeg

Department of Political Science
Temple University (025-22)
436 Gladfelter Hall
1115 W. Berks St. Mall
Philadelphia, PA 19122-6089
Tel.: + 1-215-204-7123
Fax: + 1-215-204-3770
rdeeg@temple.edu
<http://www.temple.edu/polsci/Faculty/Bios/Deeg/index.asp>

Deeg is Associate Professor of Political Science at Temple University. He received his PhD from MIT. During 1995 he was a Postdoctoral Fellow at the Max Planck Institute for the Study of Societies in Cologne, Germany, where he was also a visiting scholar during 2001. His publications include Finance Capitalism Unveiled: Banks and the German Political Economy (U. of Michigan, 1999). He has also published numerous articles on German and European political economy, as well as German federalism, in various journals including Comparative Political Studies, German Politics, Governance, Journal of European Public Policy, Publius: The Journal of Federalism, Small Business Economics, Socio-Economic Review, and West European Politics.

William Collins Donahue

Department of Germanic Languages
& Literature & Jewish Studies
Duke University
116D Old Chemistry
Durham, NC 27708
Tel.: + 1-919-660-3089
Fax: + 1-919-660-3166
wcd2@duke.edu
<http://fds.duke.edu/db/aas/German/faculty/wcd2>

Donahue is Associate Professor of German and Director of Graduate Studies, Duke University. He received his PhD from Harvard University in Germanic Languages and Literatures. His publications include The End of Modernism: Elias Canetti's Auto-da-Fe (University of North Carolina Press, 2001) and numerous articles on nineteenth and twentieth century German literature.

Mark E. Duckenfield

Department of International Relations
London School of Economics
Houghton Street
London WC2A 2AE
United Kingdom
Tel.: + 44-207-107-5118
Fax: + 44-207-955-7446
m.e.duckenfield@lse.ac.uk
<http://personal.lse.ac.uk/duckenfi/>

Duckenfield is Lecturer in International Political Economy in the Department of International Relations where he teaches Comparative Political Economy and International Political Economy. He previously taught at University College London and Harvard University where he received his PhD in Government. Duckenfield has been a research affiliate at the Max-Planck-Institute for the Study of Societies in Cologne.

Duckenfield's most recent publication, Business and the Euro, examines the attitudes and activities of business associations in Germany and the UK towards the Euro. He is the author of numerous articles on European politics and monetary policy-making and was the editor of Battles Over Free Trade, 1776-2005, A History of Financial Disasters, 1763-1995 and The Monetary History of Gold: A Documentary History, 1660-1999. As one of the world's leading experts on the politics of gold, Dr Duckenfield has been a consultant to the World Gold Council and is currently completing his second research monograph, to be entitled Gold, Governments and Central Banks.

Francesco Duina

Department of Sociology
Bates College
Pettengill Hall, Room 263
Lewiston, ME 04240
Tel.: + 1-207-786-6319
fduina@bates.edu
<http://www.bates.edu/fduina.xml>

Duina is Associate Professor of Sociology at Bates College and Visiting Professor at the Copenhagen Business School. His research and teaching interests include economic sociology, globalization, the nation state, the cultural underpinnings of trade, the European Union, South America's Mercosur, and NAFTA. Duina's recent publications include articles on the nature of law in the European Union, Mercosur and NAFTA (2006, 2004), national parliaments and legal authority in the European Union and Mercosur (2007, 2005, 2003), culture in the European Union (2002), the similarities between European Union and Mercosur law (2001), the drivers of European integration (2000), the relationship between the nation state and the European Union (1999), and the question of social contexts and legal implementation in the European Union (1997). His first book, Harmonizing Europe, focused on the problem of legal implementation in the European Union. His second book, The Social Construction of Free Trade, compares law and social change in the European Union, Mercosur, and NAFTA. Duina received his PhD in Sociology from Harvard University in 1996.

Catherine Epstein

Department of History
Amherst College
Amherst, MA 01002
Tel.: + 1-413-542-2331
Fax: + 1-413-542-2727
caepstein@amherst.edu
<https://cms.amherst.edu/people/facstaff/caepstein>

Epstein is Associate Professor of History, Amherst College. She received her PhD in History from Harvard University. Her publications include The Last Revolutionaries: German Communists and Their Century (Harvard UP, 2003), and

An Interrupted Past: German-Speaking Refugee Historians in the United States After 1933 (Cambridge UP, 1993). Epstein is currently working on a biography of Arthur Greiser, the Gauleiter of the so-called Warthegau, an area of western Poland annexed to the Third Reich during World War II.

Alison F. Frank

Department of History
Harvard University
Minda de Gunzberg Center for European Studies
27 Kirkland Street at Cabot Way
Cambridge, MA 02138
Tel.: + 1-617-495-4303 x281
Fax: + 1-617-495-8509
afrank@fas.harvard.edu
<http://www.courses.fas.harvard.edu/~history/facultyPage.cgi?id=47>

Frank is Assistant Professor of History at Harvard University. Her first book, Oil Empire: Visions of Prosperity in Austrian Galicia (2005) was awarded the 2006 Barbara Jelavich Book Prize and the 2006 Austrian Cultural Forum Book Prize, and was co-winner of the 2006 Polish Studies Association Orbis Book Prize. Her research has been supported by grants from the Fulbright Association and the American Council of Learned Societies. Frank received her PhD in History from Harvard University in 2001 and was Assistant Professor of History at the University of Wisconsin-Madison before joining Harvard's faculty in 2005. She is currently working on a book on Austria-Hungary's Adriatic coastline (between Trieste, Fiume/Rijeka, and Pola/Pula), exploring the intersection between intellectual and cultural trends, social movements, economic development, and environmental change.

Robert J. Franzese, Jr.

University of Michigan
Room 4256 I.S.R.
PO Box 1248
Ann Arbor, MI 48106-1248
Tel.: + 1-734-936-1850
Fax: + 1-734-764-3341
franzese@umich.edu
<http://www-personal.umich.edu/~franzese>

Franzese is Associate Professor of Political Science and Research Associate Professor at the Center for Political Studies, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. He received his PhD in Government and MA in Economics from Harvard University. His publications include Macroeconomic Policies of Developed Democracies (Cambridge UP, 2002), Institutional Conflicts & Complementarities (Kluwer 2004), and Modeling and Interpreting Interactive Hypotheses in Regression Analyses (UMichP, 2007) as well as articles in the American Journal of Political Science, Political Analysis, International Organization, and European Union Politics, and chapters in Varieties of Capitalism (Oxford UP 2001); Unions, Employers, and Central Banks (Cambridge UP 2000); and The History of the Bundesbank (Routledge 2000).

Benjamin Frommer

Department of History
Northwestern University
1881 Sheridan Road
Evanston, IL 60208
Tel.: + 1-847-491-2877
Fax: + 1-847-467-1393

b-frommer@northwestern.edu
<http://www.history.northwestern.edu/faculty/frommer.htm>

Frommer specializes in the history of East-Central Europe, with a focus on the periods of Nazi and Communist rule. He is primarily interested in collaboration and resistance under repressive regimes, the use of courts for political ends, the consequences of ethnic cleansing, and the development of modern nationalism. Frommer is the author of National Cleansing: Retribution against Nazi Collaborators in Postwar Czechoslovakia (New York: Cambridge University Press, 2005). Frommer's research and writing have been supported by grants and fellowships from the American Council of Learned Societies (ACLS), the International Research and Exchanges Board (IREX), the Department of Education (Fulbright-Hays and Jacob K. Javits), and the Minda de Gunzburg Center for European Studies at Harvard University. During the academic year 2004-2005 he was a Visiting Fellow at the Institut für die Wissenschaften vom Menschen (Institute for Human Sciences) in Vienna, Austria. In spring 2007 Frommer received the Weinberg College Distinguished Teaching Award. He is currently the Director of Graduate Studies for the Department of History and the Director of the undergraduate European Studies Major.

Andreas Glaeser
Department of Sociology
University of Chicago
1126 E. 59th Street
Chicago, IL 60637

Tel.: + 1-773-702-8679
Fax: + 1-773-702-4849
aglaeser@uchicago.edu
<http://sociology.uchicago.edu/people/faculty/glaeser.shtml>

Glaeser is Associate Professor of Sociology and of the Social Sciences, University of Chicago. Glaeser is a sociologist of culture with a particular interest in the construction of identities and knowledges. His work interlaces substantive interests with efforts to build social theory. In this vein, his first book develops a theory of identity formation processes in the context of an ethnographic study of Germany's post-unification woes. He is currently finishing a book aiming at the development of a political epistemology which asks how people come to understand the world of politics from within their particular biographical trajectories and social milieus. He has begun work on a new project which studies the emergence of dominant understandings about Muslim immigrants in the interaction between contingent historical events, the cycles of electoral politics, everyday experiences and mass-mediated discourses in Germany, France and Britain. He received his PhD in Sociology from Harvard University. His publications include 'An Ontology for the Ethnographic Analysis of Social Processes: Extending the Extended Case Method' in Social Analysis (forthcoming), 'Collective Intentionality, Belonging and the Production of State Paranoia: Stasi in the Late GDR' in Off Stage/On Display: Intimacies and Ethnographies in the Age of Public Culture (Stanford University Press, 2004), and 'Power/Knowledge Failure: Epistemic Practices and Ideologies in the Secret Police of Former East Germany' in Social Analysis (2003).

Lucy Goodhart

Columbia University
Political Science, IAB 734
New York, NY 10027
Tel.: + 1-212-854-9727
Fax: + 1-212-222-0598
lmg2005@columbia.edu
<http://www.columbia.edu/cu/polisci/fac-bios/goodhart/faculty.html>

An Assistant Professor of Political Science at Columbia University, Goodhart received her PhD in Government from Harvard University. Her research focuses on the interaction between political institutions and economic policy. Her thesis, Moderating Passions? Coalition Government and Policy Cycles in Advanced, Industrialized Nations, analyzed the impact of coalition government on incentives and policy actions among 17 industrialized nations from 1973 to 1992. This work integrated results from voting theory, political economy and the formal modeling of executive behavior. Her current research project, undertaken with Alison Alter of the University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee, examines the interaction between asset markets and politics, in the U.S. and abroad.

Oliver Griffin

Department of History
St. John Fisher College
3690 East Avenue
Rochester, NY 14618
Tel.: + 1-585-385-7396

Fax: + 1-585-385-7311
ogriffin@sjfc.edu
<http://home.sjfc.edu/history/griffin.htm>

Director of the Honors Program and the Strategic, Military, and Diplomatic Concentration in the History Major at St. John Fisher College, Griffin's courses cover Europe and the world since 1500, modern Germany, the Holocaust, the world wars, and cinematic portrayals of Adolf Hitler. Griffin wrote his dissertation in the Department of History at Harvard University. His coursework focuses on 19th- and 20th-century Europe and on German history since 1871.

Anna Grzymala-Busse

Department of Political Science
University of Michigan
Ann Arbor, MI 48109
Tel.: + 1-734-763-4699
abusse@umich.edu
<http://www-personal.umich.edu/~abusse/>

Grzymala-Busse is Associate Professor of Political Science. She was Associate Professor of Political Science, Yale University. She specializes in comparative politics, with a focus on political parties, state development and transformation, informal political institutions and post-communist politics. Grzymala-Busse is the author of Redeeming the Communist Past (Cambridge UP, 2001).

Virginie Guiraudon

National Center for Scientific Research (CNRS)
Research center CERAPS
faculté de droit

1 Place Déliot
BP629
59024 Lille cedex
France
Tel.: + 39-55-4685408
vguiraudon@univ-lille2.fr
<http://ceraps.univ-lille2.fr/fr/chercheurs/virginie-guiraudon.html>

A permanent Research Fellow at the National Center for Scientific Research (CNRS) in France, Virginie Guiraudon received her PhD in Government from Harvard University where she focused on explaining the evolution of the rights granted to foreigners in France, Germany and the Netherlands since 1974. She has been a Marie Curie Chair at the European University Institute in Florence, and a visiting fellow at the Center for International Studies at Princeton University. She is a recipient of the Descartes-Huygens prize whose tenure she spent at the University of Nijmegen. She was also awarded the CNRS bronze medal for best young researcher and the European Union Studies Association best paper prize. She is the author of Les politiques d'immigration en Europe (l'Harmattan, 2000), co-editor of Immigration Politics in Europe: The Politics of Control (Taylor and Francis, 2006) and of Politiques publiques. La France dans la gouvernance européenne. Her current research focuses on the Europeanization of migration, asylum and anti-discrimination policies. Her research on mobilization has also focused on mobilization around migration issues in comparative perspective. Her articles on these themes have appeared in a number of volumes and journals including the Journal of Common Market Studies, International Migration Review, the Journal of European Public Policy, West European Politics and Comparative Political Studies.

Robert Hancké

European Institute
London School of Economics and Political Science
Houghton Street
London WC 2A 2AE
United Kingdom
Tel.: + 44-20-7955-6409
Fax: + 44-20-7955-7546
r.hancke@lse.ac.uk
<http://www.lse.ac.uk/collections/europeanInstitute/raw/StaffPages/hancke.htm>

A Reader in European Political Economy at the London School of Economics and Political Science, Hancké was previously a Senior Research Fellow at the Wissenschaftszentrum Berlin. He is the author of Large Firms and Institutional Change (Oxford UP, 2002), and co-editor of Beyond Varieties of Capitalism: Conflict, Contradictions, and Complementarities in the European Economy (Oxford UP 2007). His articles have appeared in Industry and Innovation, Politics and Society, Organization Studies, European Journal of Industrial Relations, British Journal of Industrial Relations, Small Business Economics, Travail et Emploi, and the International Journal of Urban and Regional Research. Hancké received his PhD in Political Science from MIT.

Tom Harsanyi

1 Paul St.
Burlington, MA 01803
Tel.: + 1-781-272-1787
harsanyi7@aol.com

Harsanyi taught U.S. History and Modern European History at Commonwealth School in Boston from 2003 to 2007. He lives with his wife Ann and their four-year-old son Sam in Burlington, MA. Harsanyi is currently working as a tutor of writing and history. Previously he was Visiting Assistant Professor of Politics, Mount Holyoke College. His interests include comparative political economy, social theory, and intellectual history. His entry on Social Democracy appeared in the International Encyclopedia of the Social and Behavioral Sciences (Elsevier, 2001). He received his PhD in Government from Harvard University.

Benjamin Hett

Department of History
Hunter College
CUNY
695 Park Avenue
New York, NY 10021
Tel.: +1-212-772-4382
bhett@hunter.cuny.edu
<http://web.gc.cuny.edu/history/pages/profs/hett.html>

Hett is Assistant Professor of History at Hunter College, CUNY. Hett holds a J.D. and an M.A. from the University of Toronto, and he received his Ph.D. in History from Harvard in November 2001. His research focuses on criminal law and legal theory in German History. He has published a book, Death in the Tiergarten: Murder and Criminal Justice in the Kaiser's

Berlin (Cambridge: Harvard University Press, 2004) and articles in both Central European History and the Canadian Journal of History.

Alan Jacobs

Department of Political Science
University of British Columbia
C424 -- 1866 Main Mall
Vancouver, B.C. V6T 1Z1
Canada
Tel: + 1-604-822-6830
Fax: + 1-604-822-5540
jacobs@politics.ubc.ca
<http://faculty.arts.ubc.ca/jacobs/>

Jacobs is Assistant Professor of Political Science at the University of British Columbia. Jacobs' research is on the comparative politics of public policy, and currently focuses on how elected governments make tradeoffs between the short term and the long term in their policy choices. He has also written on the politics of European health care reform and decision-making in the European Union. Before graduate work at Harvard, Jacobs was a lecturer in social policy at the University of Bath, U.K.

Wade Jacoby

Department of Political Science
Brigham Young University
Center for the Study of Europe
745 SWKT
Provo, UT 84604
Tel.: + 1-801-422-1711
Fax: + 1-801-422-0580
wade_jacoby@byu.edu
<http://politicalscience.byu.edu/Faculty/WJacoby/>

Jacoby is Professor of Political Science and Director of the Center for the Study of Europe at Brigham

Young University. Jacoby has been a German Marshall Fund Fellow and was the 2006 winner of the DAAD Prize for his scholarship on Germany. He is the author of two books, Imitation and Politics: Redesigning Modern Germany (Cornell UP 2000, 2001) and The Enlargement of the EU and Nato: Ordering from the Menu in Central Europe (Cambridge UP, 2004, 2006). Jacoby has published articles in many journals including World Politics, Comparative Political Studies, Politics and Society, The Review of International Political Economy, The Review of International Organizations, International Studies Review, East European Constitutional Review, WSI-Mitteilungen, Governance, German Politics and Society, and The British Journal of Industrial Relations. He received his PhD in Political Science from MIT.

Roger Karapin

Department of Political Science
Hunter College and Graduate Center
City University of New York
695 Park Ave.
New York, NY 10065
Tel.: + 1-212-772-5665
rkarapin@panix.com
<http://urban.hunter.cuny.edu/~rkarapin>

Karapin is Associate Professor of Political Science at Hunter College and the Graduate Center, City University of New York. He is the author of Protest Politics in Germany: Movements on the Left and Right since the 1960s (Penn State University Press, 2007). He has contributed articles to Comparative Politics, International Studies Quarterly, and German Politics and Society, and chapters to several edited volumes. Karapin received his Ph.D. in Political Science from M.I.T.

Meyer Kestnbaum

Department of Sociology
University of Maryland
4129 Art-Sociology Building
College Park MD 20742
Tel.: + 1-301-405-6431
Fax: + 1-301-314-6892
mkestn@umd.edu
<http://www.bsos.umd.edu/socy/People/Faculty/mkestnbaum.htm>

Kestnbaum is Associate Professor of Sociology and Research Associate at the Center for the Study of Military Organization, University of Maryland at College Park. He received his PhD in Sociology from Harvard University. Kestnbaum's interests span the sociological study of the military, history and the technology. His recent work has been on the sociology of war, military conscription, citizenship & military mobilization, and the social impact of the internet. His most recent publications include "Civil-Military Relations in an Era of Bioterrorism: Crime and War in the Making of Modern Civil-Military Relations" in Advances in Health Care Management (2004), and "Mars Revealed: The Entry of Ordinary People into War among States," in Julia P. Adams, Elisabeth S. Clemens and Ann Shola Orloff (eds.), Reaking Modernity: Politics, Processes, and History in Sociology (Duke UP, 2005).

Rita Krueger

Department of History
Temple University
Gladfelter Hall 919

1115 West Berks Street
Philadelphia, PA 19122
Tel.: + 1-215-204-4858
Fax: + 1-215-204-5891
rita.krueger@temple.edu
<http://www.temple.edu/history/KO/krueger/>

Krueger is Assistant Professor of History at Temple University. She received her PhD in History from Harvard University. Her work has focused primarily on early nationalism in Central Europe, particularly within the Habsburg Empire. She is interested in the way national and nationalist rhetoric and activities were integrated into daily life, as well as how national identity and status interacted. She is completing a book manuscript on this now, and has begun a second project that looks at status and identity not from the national perspective, but from the gender perspective. Her recent publications include 'Mediating Progress in the Provinces: Central Authority, Local Elites, and Agrarian Societies in Bohemia and Moravia' in Austrian History Yearbook (2004) and 'Nationalizing the Public' in Culture and Nation in Central and Eastern Europe (Harvard UP, 2000).

David Lehrer

Department of Political Science
P.O. Box 54
Unioninkatu 37
FIN-00014 University of Helsinki
Finland
Tel + 49-30-8019-5685
david.lehrer@helsinki.fi

Lehrer is a doctoral student in Political Science at the University of Helsinki, an Associate of the Aleksanteri Institute (Finnish Centre for Russian and East European Studies) in Helsinki, a research associate in international development at Oxford, and a visiting student at Humboldt University in Berlin specializing in the political economy of postcommunism. Lehrer's research links criminology, comparative politics and international relations, investigating the interaction of supranational pressures on new post communist states and quasi-states from above with increasing societal pressures on these states from below and applying empirical methods to study the role of this interaction in shaping the constellations of political regimes and sovereignty types that have emerged in Central and Eastern Europe and Central Asia since 1989. In addition to this research, Lehrer has consulted on policy to counter money laundering in Europe and helped to develop the first university course on international corruption. His publications include "Postcommunist Aid Negotiation: A Review of Recent Research" (Cambridge Review of International Affairs) and the book Western Aid in Postcommunism: Effects and Side-Effects (Palgrave, forthcoming), both with Anna Korhonen. Lehrer received his MPA from the Harvard Kennedy School and his MBA from Harvard Business School.

Isabela Mares

Department of Political Science
Stanford University
Encina Hall West 411
Stanford, CA 94305
Tel.: + 1-650-723-3583
isabela@stanford.edu

<http://politicalscience.stanford.edu/faculty/mares.html>

Mares is Associate Professor of Political Science, Stanford University. She is the author of The Politics of Social Risk: Business and Welfare State Development (Cambridge University Press 2003) which won the Gregory Luebbert Award of the American Political Science Association for the best book in comparative politics in 2005 and the Best Book Award of the Council for European Studies. Her recent book Taxation, Wage Bargaining and Unemployment was published by Cambridge University Press in 2006. She has contributed articles to journals such as World Politics, Comparative Political Studies, Governance, and Politics and Society.

Patchen Markell

Department of Political Science
The University of Chicago
5828 South University Avenue
Chicago, IL 60637
Tel.: + 1-773-702-8057
Fax: + 1-773-702-1689
p-markell@uchicago.edu
<http://home.uchicago.edu/~pmarke>
II/

Markell is a political theorist, who received his Ph.D. in Political Science from Harvard University in 1999. He has taught in the Social Studies program at Harvard and, since 1999, in the Department of Political Science at the University of Chicago. His first book, Bound by Recognition, was published in 2003 and received the First Book Award from the Foundations of Political Theory section of the American Political Science Association. He has published articles in The American Political Science Review, Political Theory, Polity, and Constellations, and is currently at work on a study of Hannah Arendt's The Human Condition, as well as a longer-term project in conceptions of action, power, and rule in democratic theory.

Gerald A. McDermott

Department of Management
The Wharton School
University of Pennsylvania
2000 Steinberg Hall-Dietrich Hall
Philadelphia, PA 19104
Tel.: + 1-215-573-4923
mcdermott@wharton.upenn.edu
<http://www.wharton.upenn.edu/faculty/mcdermott.html>

An Assistant Professor of Management at the Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania, McDermott received his PhD in Political Science from MIT. His publications include Embedded Politics: Industrial Networks and Institutional Change in Post-Communism (University of Michigan Press, 2002) as well as contributions to The New Entrepreneurs of Europe and Asia (Bonnell and Gold, eds., M. E. Sharpe, 2002) and Restructuring Networks in Post-Socialism: Legacies, Linkages, and Localities (Oxford UP, 1997). He has also written articles for Industrial and Corporate Change, Comparative Political Studies, and Academy of Management Review. McDermott's current research has focused on problems of institutional and organizational learning in the formation of meso-level, public-private governance institutions in emerging market and post-socialist economies, particularly regarding alliances, network assets, and restructuring.

as of August 2008

Moore School of Business
University of South Carolina

Laurence McFalls

Département de science politique
Université de Montréal
Directeur (Montréal)
Centre canadien d'études
allemandes et européennes
3744, rue Jean-Brillant, local 525
Montréal PQ H3T 1P1
Canada
Tel.: + 1-514-343-6763
Fax: + 1-514-343-7187
laurence.mcfalls@umontreal.ca
http://www.pol.umontreal.ca/personnel/McFalls\_Laurence.htm

Professor of Political Science,
Université de Montréal, McFalls received his PhD in Government from Harvard University. His publications include *Max Weber's
'Objectivity' Reconsidered*
(University of Toronto Press, 2007); Construire le politique (Presses de l'Université Laval 2006); After the GDR (edited with Lothar Probst, Rodopi, 2001) and Communism's Collapse, Democracy's Demise? The Cultural Context and Consequences of the East German Revolution
(New York UP, 1995).

Bonnie M. Meguid

Department of Political Science
University of Rochester
Rochester, NY 14627-0146
Tel.: + 1-585-275-2338
Fax: + 1-585-271-1616
bonnie.meguid@rochester.edu
<http://mail.rochester.edu/~megu/>

Meguid is an Assistant Professor of Political Science at the University of Rochester. Her research interests include political parties, party systems, elite and mass political behavior, political institutions and elections in a comparative perspective. She is also interested in issues of nationalism, ethnicity and citizenship, especially as they relate to political organizations and parties. Her primary regional specialization is in Western Europe.
Meguid is currently completing a book manuscript on the role of mainstream party strategies in the electoral success and failure of green, radical right and ethnoterritorial parties in Western Europe. Her research has also been published in the American Political Science Review. Meguid received her PhD in Political Science from Harvard University in 2002.

Margaret Eleanor Menninger

Department of History
Taylor-Murphy 230
Texas State University
San Marcos, TX 78666
Tel.: + 1-512-245-2188
Fax: + 1-512-245-3043
mm48@txstate.edu
<http://www.txstate.edu/history/people/menninger/menninger-cv.pdf>

An Associate Professor of History at Texas State University--San Marcos, Menninger received her PhD in History from Harvard University.
Her publications include: "Kulturelle
Eliten und kollektives Mäzenatentum in Leipzig" in *Kulturpolitik und Stadtkultur in Leipzig und Lyon: 18.-20.
Jahrhundert* (Thomas Höpel und
Steffen Sammler, Hrsg., Leipziger

Universitätsverlag, 2004); "The Serious Matter of True Joy: Music and Cultural Philanthropy in Leipzig, 1781-1933" in Philanthropy, Patronage, and Civil Society: Lessons from Germany, the United States, Britain, and Canada (Thomas Adam, ed., Indiana UP, 2004) ; and "Zivilgesellschaft jenseits der Bühne: Theater, Bildung und bürgerliches Mäzenatentum" in Zivilgesellschaft als Geschichte: Studien zum 19. und 20. Jahrhundert (Ralph Jessen, Sven Reichardt, Ansgar Klein, Hrsg. Lenske+Budrich und Westdeutscher Verlag, 2004).

David Meskill

Lecturer of Liberal Arts and International Studies
Colorado School of Mines
Stratton Hall
105 14th Street
Golden, CO 80401
Tel.: + 1-303-384-2407
dmeskill@mines.edu
<http://lais.mines.edu/ProfFiles/meskill.htm>

Meskill is currently embarking on a new project, tentatively titled Forging Individuals: How Europe Solved Its Social Question. This book will challenge the common assertion that democracy played the decisive role in integrating the industrial working class into mainstream European society. He has previously held the position of Lecturer at MIT, Harvard, and Boston University in such subject areas as European and German history, intellectual history, and comparative and global history and social science topics. Much further down the road, Meskill plans to tackle a "big history" project that will address the role of environmental determinism and contingency in long-term historical patterns. Its working-title is From the Mediterranean Environment to the European Miracle: An "Inflationary" Theory of Big History.

Sophie Meunier

Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs
Princeton University
Bendheim Hall 018
Princeton, NJ 08544
Tel.: + 1-609-258-4863
Fax: + 1-609-258-5196
smeunier@princeton.edu
<http://www.princeton.edu/~smeunier>

Sophie Meunier is a Research Scholar in the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton University. She is the author of Trading Voices: The European Union in International Commercial Negotiations (Princeton University Press, 2005) and its French adaptation, L'Union fait la force: L'Europe dans les negociations commerciales internationales (Presses de Sciences Po, 2005). She is the co-author of The French Challenge: Adapting to Globalization (with Philip Gordon, Brookings Institution Press, 2001) and its French adaptation Le Nouveau défi français: la France face à la mondialisation, winner of the 2002 France-Americques book award. She is also the editor of Making History: European Integration and Institutional Change at Fifty (The State of the European Union, Volume 8, with Kathleen McNamara, 2007). Meunier has published many articles on the European Union, the politics of international trade, globalization, and French politics in journals such as International Organization, Foreign Affairs, and Foreign Policy. Her current research focuses on anti-Americanism in France, the ambiguous links between Europeanization and globalization, and the politics of international regime complexity. She is currently writing a book manuscript on the politics of French anti-Americanism and another book on the paradox of 'managed globalization.' Meunier is the Acting Director of the EU Program at Princeton (2007-2008). She contributes frequently to the French media.

Bruce Morrison

Department of Political Science
Social Science Centre, Room 4137
University of Western Ontario
London, Ontario, N6A 5C2
Canada
Tel.: + 1-519-661-2111 x84937
Fax: + 1-519-661-3904
bmorris2@uwo.ca
<http://www.ssc.uwo.ca/polisci/faculty/morrison/>

Morrison is Assistant Professor of Political Science, University of Western Ontario. He received his PhD in Government from Harvard University. He has edited and written two chapters for the book Transnational Democracy in Critical and Comparative Perspective (Ashgate, 2003). His research interests include democratization, state formation, state-society relations, and social policy.

Simona Piattoni

Department of Sociology and Social Research
University of Trento

piazza Venezia 41
38100 Trento
Italy
Tel.: + 39-0461-881-359
Fax: + 39-0461-881-348
simona.piattoni@unitn.it
http://www.ssi.unitn.it/en/docenti/piattoni\_eng.htm

An Associate Professor of Political Science at the University of Trento (Italy), Piattoni received her PhD in Political Science from MIT. She is the author of Clientelism, Interests, and Democratic Representation: The European Experience in Historical and Comparative Perspective (Cambridge UP, 2001) and the co-author (with Jeanie Bukowski and Marc Smyrl) of Between Europeanization and Local Societies: The Space of Territorial Governance in Europe (Rowman & Littlefield, 2003) and (with T. Christiansen) of Informal Governance in the European Union (Edward Elgar, 2003). Her latest co-authored book is (with S. Fabbrini) Italy in the European Union: Redefining National Interest in a Compound Polity (Rowman & Littlefield, 2007).

Jennifer Pitts

Associate Professor of Political Science
University of Chicago
5828 South University Ave.
Chicago, IL 60637-1553
Tel.: 1-773-702-8868
Fax: 1-773-702-1689
jpitts@uchicago.edu
<http://political-science.uchicago.edu>

Pitts is Associate Professor of Political Science at the University of Chicago. Her research in modern political and social thought has focused on British and French thought of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries, empire, and international justice. She is the author of A Turn to Empire (Princeton University Press, 2005) and editor and translator of Alexis de Tocqueville: Writings on Empire and Slavery (Johns Hopkins University Press, 2001), and has published articles in journals such as Political Theory and the Journal of Political Philosophy. She is currently writing a book, tentatively entitled Boundaries of the International, which explores European debates about legal relations with extra-European societies, and the challenges of cross-cultural legal and moral judgment, in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. Before joining the University of Chicago she was an assistant professor at Yale and at Princeton.

Mark A. Pollack

Temple University
Department of Political Science
461 Gladfelter Hall
Philadelphia, PA 19066
Tel: + 1-215-204-7782
Fax: + 1-215-204-3770
mark.pollack@temple.edu
<http://www.temple.edu/polsci/Faculty/Bios/Pollack/index.asp>

An Associate Professor at Temple University, Mark Pollack received his Ph.D. from the Harvard University Department of Government, and has served as Associate Professor at the University of Wisconsin-Madison and Visiting Professor at the European University Institute in Florence. His research agenda focuses on the role of international institutions in the regional and global governance, with specific projects examining the delegation of powers to the supranational organizations in the European Union, the creation of new mechanisms for the governance of the transatlantic relationship, and the 'mainstreaming' of gender issues in international organizations. Recent publications include Regulating Risk in a Global Economy: The Law and Politics of Genetically Modified Organisms (Oxford UP, forthcoming 2008), The Handbook of European Union Politics (with Knud Erik Jorgensen and Ben Rosamond, Sage, 2007), Policy-Making in the European Union (with Helen and William Wallace, OUP, 2005), and The Engines of European Integration: Delegation, Agency and Agenda Setting in the EU (OUP, 2003).

Hiram A. Ramírez-Rangel

Branch Operations Manager
AXA Advisors, LLC
270 Muñoz Rivera Ave., Suite 505
San Juan, PR 00918
Tel.: + 1-787-759-3333
Fax: + 1-787-759-3395
hiram.ramirez-rangel@axa-advisors.com

Ramírez-Rangel has spent the last couple of years working in the private and public sector of Puerto Rico. He is the Operations Manager of AXA Advisors, LLC in Puerto Rico and is a former Secretary for Economic Development and Commerce, former Advisor for Economic Development and Finance to the Governor of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, and former Executive Director of the Puerto Rico Industrial Development Company. He previously taught at the University of Puerto Rico. Ramirez-Rangel received his PhD in Government from Harvard University.

Jeffrey S. Richter

US Department of Justice
Criminal Division
Office of Special Investigations
Washington DC 20530
Tel.: + 1-202-305-8731
Fax: + 1-202-616-2491
Jeffrey.Richter@usdoj.gov
www.facebook.com/people/Jeffrey-Richter/15616544

Dr. Jeffrey Richter is Senior Historian in the Office of Special Investigations of the United States Department of Justice. His office investigates allegations of participation in state-sponsored extrajudicial killing, torture, and genocide by individuals who later immigrated to the United States. His work on the office's Holocaust cases has led to the denaturalization of former camp guards trained at the SS facility in Trawniki. Since the expansion of the Office of Special Investigations' jurisdiction in 2004 to include the pursuit of perpetrators of more recent human rights violations, Dr. Richter has specialized in African cases, including those stemming from the Rwandan genocide. He is also Associate Professorial Lecturer in History and Judaic Studies at the George Washington University.

Alex Sagan

Spark Group LLC
14 Hubbard Park Road
Cambridge, MA 02138-4731
Tel.: + 1-617-497-7600
Fax: + 1-617-497-7877
alex@sagan.org

Dr. Sagan left full-time teaching in 2001 and now divides his time between foundation consulting, academia, and entrepreneurial projects. He lives in Cambridge, Massachusetts with his wife, Dr. Julie Altman, and their four children. Alex received his PhD in History from Harvard University and is an Affiliate at the Center for European Studies at Harvard. His publications on the subject of Anne Frank have appeared in German Politics and Society.

Levent Soysal

Department of Radio, Television, and Cinema
Kadir Has University
Cibali Campus
Hisaralti Caddesi
34230 Fatih, Istanbul
Turkey
Tel.: + 90-212-533-6532 x738
Fax: + 90-212-534-0965
levsoy@khas.edu.tr
<http://www.khas.edu.tr/eng/cv-ing/leventsoysal.html>

Professor Soysal is the Founding Chair, Faculty of Communication, in Kadir Has University, Istanbul. He is the author of "Rap, Hiphop, Kreuzberg: Scripts of/for Migrant Youth Culture in the WorldCity Berlin", New German Critique. Soysal was a Postdoctoral Research Fellow at the Berlin Program for Advanced German and European Studies, Freie Universität Berlin. Between 1998-2001, he taught as Assistant Professor of Anthropology at the John W. Draper Interdisciplinary Master's Program in Humanities and Social Thought at New York University. He received his PhD in Anthropology from Harvard University. Recent publications include "Europe and the Topography of Migrant Youth Culture in Berlin," in Europe without Borders: Re-Mapping Territory, Citizenship and Identity in a Transnational Age, Mabel Berezin and Martin Schain, editors (John Hopkins University Press, 2003); "Labor to Culture: Writing Turkish Migration to Europe," The South Atlantic Quarterly Spring/Summer 2003; "Beyond 'Second Generation': Rethinking the Place of Migrant Youth Culture in Berlin," in Challenging Ethnic Citizenship: German and Israeli Perspectives on Immigration, Daniel Levy and Yfaat Weiss, editors (Berghahn Books, 2002); and, Juvenilia, a special issue of Europæa: Journal of the Europeanists, co-edited with Giuliana Mandich (2001).

Andrew Tauber

Mayer Brown LLP
1909 K Street, NW
Washington DC 20006
Tel.: + 1-202-263-3324
Fax: + 1-202-263-5324
atauber@mayerbrown.com
www.appellate.net/tauber

Tauber is a partner at Mayer Brown LLP, a leading international law firm. As a member of Mayer Brown's Supreme Court & Appellate Practice Group, Andy focuses on federal preemption, product liability, and First Amendment cases, but has successfully briefed and argued a wide variety of other issues, including attorney-client privilege and antitrust liability for pre-bankruptcy conduct. A co-author of the forthcoming treatise Mayer Brown on Federal Appellate Practice, he regularly represents clients in the US Supreme Court, the various US Courts of Appeals, and state appellate courts. In addition to his purely appellate work, Andy also works closely with trial lawyers to craft and preserve legal arguments for later appellate review.

Prior to receiving a J.D. from Yale Law School, Andy obtained a Ph.D. in Political Science at M.I.T. His dissertation, entitled Tyranny on Trial: Natural Law and Legal Positivism in the Federal Republic of Germany, was a critical examination of how the West German criminal justice system treated former Nazi perpetrators after WWII and how, in light of that prior experience, it treated former communist perpetrators after Reunification.

Corinna Treitel

Washington University in St. Louis
Department of History
Campus Box 1062
One Brookings Drive
St. Louis, MO 63130-4899
Tel.: + 1-314-935-5333
Fax: + 1-314-935-4399
ctreitel@artsci.wustl.edu
<http://artsci.wustl.edu/~history/faculty/index.php?action=dspPersonFull&pid=25>

Treitel is Assistant Professor of History, Washington University in St. Louis. She received her PhD in History from Harvard University. She is a modern German historian interested in the intersection of cultural history and the history of science and medicine. Her first book explored the history of the modern German occult movement (A Science for the Soul: Occultism and the Genesis of the German Modern; Johns Hopkins University Press 2004). She is now working on a new project concerning food politics. Her article on the German nutritionist Max Rubner, a leading figure in the cultural history of the calorie, just appeared in Central European History. This in turn is related to work on a new book examining the politics of natural foods movements since the early nineteenth century (The Way to Paradise: Food and the Politics of Nature in Modern Germany).

Frank Trentmann

School of History, Classics, and Archaeology
Birkbeck College, University of London
Malet Street, Bloomsbury
London WC1E 7HX
United Kingdom
Tel.: + 44-20-7079-0603
Fax: + 44-20-7079-0602
f.trentmann@bbk.ac.uk
<http://www.consume.bbk.ac.uk/trentmann.html>

Trentmann is Professor of History at Birkbeck College, London. Trentmann was the director of the Cultures of Consumption research programme, co-funded by the ESRC and the AHRC. He has taught at Princeton, the Universität Bielefeld, and the British Academy. Recent publications include Free Trade Nation: Consumption, Civil Society and Commerce in Modern Britain (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2008); Governance, Citizens, and Consumers: Agency and Resistance in Contemporary Politics, (Palgrave Macmillan, 2007, edited with Mark Bevir); Beyond Sovereignty: Britain, Empire, and Transnationalism, c. 1860-1950 (Palgrave Macmillan, 2007, edited with Kevin Grant and Philippa Levine); Consuming Cultures, Global Perspectives: Historical Trajectories, Transnational Exchanges (Oxford and New York: Berg, 2006, edited with John Brewer); The Making of the Consumer: Knowledge, Power and Identity in the Modern World (Oxford and New York: Berg, 2006, editor); Civil Society: A Reader in History, Theory and Global Politics (Palgrave Macmillan, 2005, edited with John A. Hall).

Maurits van der Veen

Department of International Affairs
The University of Georgia
324 Candler Hall
Athens, GA 30602
Tel.: + 1-706-542-3357
Fax: + 1-706-583-8266
maurits@uga.edu
<http://maurits.myweb.uga.edu/>

Van der Veen is Assistant Professor of Political Science, The University of Georgia. He received his PhD in Government from Harvard University. He is working on a book manuscript titled 'Framing Aid: Ideas and Interests in Foreign Policy.'

Jeffrey W. Vanke

Independent Scholar
532 Linden Street
Roanoke, VA 24014
USA
Tel.: + 1-540-427-1721
jvanke@yahoo.com

A full-time father and former Assistant Professor of History and International Studies at Guilford College in Greensboro, North Carolina, Vanke received his PhD in History from Harvard University. His articles on European diplomatic and military history have appeared in Cold War History and Journal of Cold War Studies. Vanke is currently working on the book, Europeanism and European Union: Interests, Emotions, and Systemic Integration in the Early European Economic Community (forthcoming).

Todd Wilson

U.S. Mission to the European Union
27 Boulevard du Regent
1000 Brussels
Belgium
Tel.: + 32-2-508-2670
Fax: + 32-2-511-2092
ftwilson@alumni.princeton.edu

Wilson is with the U.S. Department of State, based at the U.S. Mission to the EU in Brussels. He received his PhD in Government from Harvard University.

Jason Wittenberg

Department of Political Science
University of California, Berkeley
210 Barrows Hall
Berkeley, CA 94720-1950
Tel.: + 1-510-642-8407
Fax: + 1-510-642-9515
witty@berkeley.edu
<http://www.polisci.berkeley.edu/faculty/bio/permanent/Wittenberg,J/>

An Assistant Professor of Political Science at the University of California, Berkeley, he is the author of Crucibles of Political Loyalty: Church Institutions and Electoral Continuity in Hungary. (Cambridge University Press, 2006). He has published articles in Political Analysis, the American Journal of Political Science, Slavic Review, Organization Science, and the System Dynamics Review. His current book project focuses on the social bases of fascism and communism in interwar Eastern Europe.

Stewart Wood

10 Downing Street
London SW1
United Kingdom
Tel.: + 44-207-930-4433
Tel.: + 44-186-527-6116
stewart.wood@politics.ox.ac.uk
swood@no10.x.gsi.gov.uk

A tenured Fellow in Politics at Magdalen College, Oxford University, Stewart Wood received his PhD in Government from Harvard University. Wood is currently on leave working as Senior Policy Adviser to the UK Prime Minister, Gordon Brown, covering foreign policy, Northern Ireland, and cultural and media policy. His publications focus on economic policymaking in western Europe, in particular in Germany and the UK, as well as public policy and the welfare state.

Anne Wren

Institute for International Integration Studies
The Sutherland Center
Trinity College Dublin
Dublin 2
Ireland
Tel.: + 353-1-896-3888
Fax: + 353-1-896-3939
wrena@tcd.ie
<http://www.tcd.ie/iis/>

Wren was an Assistant Professor of Political Science at Stanford University from 2000 to 2005. In 2005 she was awarded a research grant by the European Commission to direct a Marie Curie Excellence Team in Political Economy at the Institute for International Integration Studies at Trinity College Dublin, Ireland. The Marie Curie research team is currently conducting a four-year project on the topic "Political Responses to Economic Change: De-Industrialization, Globalization and Service Sector Development". The project involves both the conduct of primary research, and the establishment of a network of scholars from the US and Europe who are working in this area through the conduct of a series of seminars and workshops.